DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers filed on 11/30/2000 purporting to comply with the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d) and they have been placed of record in the file. Attention is directed to the fact that the date for which foreign priority is claimed is not the date of the first filed foreign application acknowledged in the oath or

Information Disclosure Statement

2. Documents filed in the interests of Information disclosure fail to comply with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97, 1.98 and MPEP § 609 because no listing was provided in accordance with the sections listed including the appropriate use of form PTO-1449. It has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered as to the merits. Applicant is advised that the date of any re-submission of any item of information contained in this information disclosure statement or the submission of any missing element(s) will be the date of submission for purposes of determining compliance with the requirements based on the time of filing the statement, including all certification requirements for statements under 37 CFR 1.97(e). See MPEP § 609 ¶ C(1).

Drawings

3. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the details centered on the lottery system/customer interaction as set forth in at least claim 1 sections A-F, must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

- a. The disclosure is objected to because it contains an embedded hyperlink and/or other form of browser-executable code. Applicant is required to delete the embedded hyperlink and/or other form of browser-executable code. See MPEP § 608.01.

The use of the trademarks such as Intel and Kodak has been noted in this application. They should be capitalized wherever it appears and be accompanied by the generic terminology.

Although the use of trademarks is permissible in patent applications, the proprietary nature of the marks should be respected and every effort made to prevent their use in any manner which might adversely affect their validity as trademarks.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Presently it is difficult to determine if the written description is inadequate or if the difficulty arises from the foreign language translation. The examiner has difficulty in ascertaining precisely what the applicant has invented. This is due to such phrases such as "what allows the possibility of frauds, the loss of the prize when one gets lost the voucher...." as presented in the first paragraph of page 3 and "the low agility and comfort of the transaction" as presented in the first two lines of page 5. The examiner is unfamiliar with such terminology as the "agility of a transaction" or what feature or element in a lotto system the applicant intends to refer to through this reference

Further the paragraph long sentences make comprehension more difficult. The listed deficiencies are not meant to be an exhaustive listing, but instead merely illustrative of the problems present. While the specification is comprehensible to the point of it encompassing a networked lotto system with a digital ticket system, the written description (or translation) appears so poorly drafted such that it is not known as to what the applicant has invented and rendering of any meaningful application of prior art difficult if not impossible.

A substitute specification including the claims is required pursuant to 37 CFR 1.125(a) due to the deficiencies outlined above.

Art Unit: 3714

A substitute specification filed under 37 CFR 1.125(a) must only contain subject matter from the original specification and any previously entered amendment under 37 CFR 1.121. If the substitute specification contains additional subject matter not of record, the substitute specification must be filed under 37 CFR 1.125(b) and must be accompanied by: 1) a statement that the substitute specification contains no new matter; and 2) a marked-up copy showing the amendments to be made via the substitute specification relative to the specification at the time the substitute specification is filed.

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors. This rejection follows forth on those present above. Clear steps should be delineated in describing the method. The claims should correspond in terms and phrases to those used in the (substitute) specification so that the claim's scope may be ascertained. Care should be exercised in drafting method steps meant to be performed with particular apparatus structure to ensure the steps are so limited and that overall a statutory process is defined. It is urged applicant redraft the claims to conform with current US practice and clearly define the invention.

As noted above, the examiner has difficulty in understanding precisely applicant's invention. It is not felt prior art can be reasonably applied at this time. The patents to Smeltzer and Kamille are being cited to the record, as they were readily available to the examiner and as best understood, may be relevant to the instant claims. Applicant is thanked in advance for his cooperation in amending the application to conform to US practice and/or any explanation of the invention applicant can provide to the record to aid in examination.

Regarding claim 1, the phrase "for example" renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitation(s) following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Regarding claims 1-4, the claim structure is unclear as no clear boundary exists between the preamble of the claim(s) and the body thereof as set forth absent of any transitional elements.
